

Can you follow someone else's business model?

One of the main reasons people purchase a franchise is because the “system” is already in place. Most franchisors are looking for individuals who they can train easily and who follow directions. If you are one of those who has a tendency to “go completely maverick” don't go any further on this application as you will have an extremely tough time being successful with a franchise.

